

A scatter plot illustrating a 2D dataset with three classes of data points. The points are distributed across the plot area, with red points generally located at the top and bottom edges, blue points forming a central cluster, and purple points scattered along the bottom and right sides. The plot is set against a white background with a light gray grid.