

A scatter plot illustrating a downward trend. The data points are colored purple, blue, and red. The purple points form a broad, shallow curve at the top. The blue points follow a steeper downward path. The red points are clustered at the bottom right, indicating the lowest values in the dataset.